Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Godin et al.

Godin discloses the use of a musical instrument case comprising a top portion for covering the headstock and tuning keys of the instrument; a body portion for covering the strings and neck of the instrument with one or more detachable straps to secure the body portion around the headstock; and an end portion for attaching the cover to the body of the instrument. The detachable straps as disclosed by Godin are connected at one free end of the top portion of the cover and connected at another end to a free edge of the end portion of the cover (see figure 2). Godin further discloses the use of a pocket (see figure 3) within the cover and a fabric material(18).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Godin in view of Armstrong.

Godin does not disclose the use of a clear plastic cover.

Armstrong discloses the use of a clear plastic cover for a musical instrument (column 2, lines 1-5).

It would have been obvious to not of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the case as disclosed by Godin with the material as disclosed by Armstrong in order to provide a durable case for musical instruments.

5. Applicant's arguments filed 7/25/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The applicant argues that the Godin reference "encloses all of the surfaces of the instrument held in the case". This enclosure encloses the top portion, body portion with one or more straps, and the end portion and therefor discloses the elements recited in the applicant's claims. With respect the applicant's argument that his device does not enclose the entire instrument, it is also noted that the features upon which applicant relies are not recited in the rejected claims. Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
